

Is Your Child Reading a Book?

Bahodirova Nigora
Student of NDPI academic lyceum

Annotation: This article explores the attitudes of today's youth towards books and at the time why children's love for books is slowly fading.

Key words: Indifference, movies, Tokhir Malik, deafness, literature, fairy tales, magic

As the philosopher D.I. Pisarov said, if every person in life strives for knowledge, he or she can achieve spiritual perfection, high peaks, and indescribable achievements. Every person is born and grows up to be interested in the surrounding things, and as a result of this interest, the reason for learning to read is born. These interests direct people to the book, which is a place of knowledge. The above thoughts apply only to people who are interested in life and think about the future. They are very apathetic. The main reason for apathy is that most of the population is not aware of international events, let alone the daily news happening around them.

So, is this anime blocking? Or what is causing it?

Let's try to find answers to these questions.

Why did the people not read the book? When I say human, I mean humanity as a whole but it is natural for you to have a question after reading this article.

How can people read books when they are old and busy with their work and livelihood? Your opinion is correct, but nothing is impossible. Let's not talk about busy with the worries of life, but about the young people who are idle in the streets. So why do we young people not like books? What is the reason for this? First of all, if our state and then our parents have created all the necessary conditions do we need them again? Maybe the biggest reason for this is the computer games that have become popular on the streets or the serials that come out in a variety of ways like a rainbow. But do they have the knowledge, level and education of a book?

Book is a magical lamp that gives light to a person in his most difficult moment. So why don't we use this magic lamp in our life? I think that the influence of the family environment plays a big role in the indifference of us young people. The root of everything goes back to the family environment. How much does it depend on the upbringing of our children in the family and school? The better it is cared for the more abundant it will be. Therefore, it is necessary to teach children to read books suitable to their worldview from a young age. Every child who has been reading fairy tales and story books since he was young will keep that habit even after he dies and will read at least one book a month.

I recently witnessed an incident. The work "Shaytanat" by the well-known writer Tohir Malik and film based on this work. I read this book when I was in the 9th grade. One of my classmates opened up about this book and he said, that it is enough to watch movie or Tv series based on this work without reading the work and I told him, many truths and feelings are described in the books not in the movies. I have one thing to say, my dears, you are very wrong, on the contrary, don't watch the movie or series, read the book only once. In the book the writer describes all his inner feelings, he dwells on each image separately. It reveals the inner feelings of all the images in the work, down to the smallest edges and details. Only the director's thoughts are in the film... I don't mean completely disconnect from mass media, the mass media also has its place, purpose and tasks and there are very high quality movies, serials, and shows in it.

Let's hold everything together as much as possible. How important is the role of our parents in doing all this? The influence of the role of parents in this way is very high. So dear parents where are you looking? In which way are your children going? Before going to sleep do we tell stories to our children, fairy tales to our little ones or do we watch foreign tv series with our family on the Internet, Telegram, YouTube or Facebook?

Dear parents, let's open our eyes wider, let's look around again. An educated person will never be humiliated. Our independent Republic of Uzbekistan is creating all the conditions for raising the young generation to be a well-rounded person, loyal to national and universal values. We should appreciate this high attention. The book brings humanity to the heights...

In the books lives the mind perception of past times. Everything that mankind has created, thought about and achieved over and over again is preserved in the pages of book like a magic box. The book is magician. The book rebuilds the world, it embodies the human mind. A world without books becomes a world barbarian without knowledge. Therefore, let's not let our clear sky and freedom turn into the world of barbarians. Let's appreciate our time, which is equal to gold, and our youth, whose value is incomparable to wealth.

Special literature (resources)

1. Bamford, J and Day, R. R. (Eds.) (in press). Extensive reading activities for teaching language. Cambridge: Cambridge University Press.