The advantages of learning foreign languages are the ability to adapt you to succeed in almost any aspect of your life. Learning a foreign language is very important, and there are countless such reasons for learning a foreign language. Learning a foreign language helps language overcome barriers and connects people at a deeper level of mutual understanding. Well, let's talk about why it's important for teachers who are no longer language professionals to know the language. Especially nowadays, teachers are required to know English. Why is this necessary? I'd like to give my thoughts on this. It is widely known that English has been recognized as the language of the world. One in two current years of age is in the th- class of learning English. At least there is interest in this language. To educate such young people, I believe that no matter what industry teacher they are, they need to have initial knowledge of English. Because young people always love imitation. Also, knowledge of English is a great opportunity to develop the knowledge of teachers. The secret is when many scientific papers were written in English. They will be able to read the original works freely. Another important aspect is that by learning English, modern techniques and social networks are easier to use today. English is also called technical language. Almost all social networks are easily covered in English. Especially well known is that during the pandemic, distance learning began. This presented a challenge for many teachers. Because not all teachers know how to use the same modern technologies and social networks. Knowledge of English puts a spotlight on these problems.

This year, interest in learning foreign languages has increased significantly. This is also due to our country's decree on the development of a foreign language after independence. The education system makes it a task to raise a free-thinking, perfectly mature person. Also, the presidential law on measures to teach foreign languages, adopted on December 10, 2012, expands the possibilities of studying foreign languages. New methods and requirements have been developed in accordance with the "CEFR" of the European recommendations for evaluating the knowledge and skills of foreign language teachers in teaching a foreign language in our country. Today, the ability to learn foreign languages is becoming one of the most integral parts of the horse's education system. Because of the high rate of cooperation with foreign partners in specialists from all walks of time, they have a high demand for language learning. In modern society, foreign languages are becoming an important component of any vocational education. Among the aforementioned, they will learn either through training courses or by getting acquainted with their collections that help them learn a foreign language independently. Today, there are large collections of educational materials for people with different levels of language profanity. Success in achieving this goal depends on the practical methods and skills of teachers. The ability to use information technology and modern teaching methods will help you to quickly understand new materials .1. Combining various methods , the teacher will be able to solve certain educational programs . In this regard , teachers and students should get acquainted with the methods of modern teaching of foreign languages . As a result , his ability to choose the best methods for achieving his goals will be questioned . In this way , the use of several methods of teaching and learning is effective . Teaching is carried out in small stages and is based on the student's existing system of knowledge .2. As time progresses , innovation in every area increases . There are also various methods of learning the language . It is a good thing to learn English gradually based on the well-being and level of the learner and the age of the learner . Such students are divided into groups on the basis of teaching in the elementary stages , teaching in the secondary stages , and teaching in high school . For each stage , a special program will be developed by the teacher . At the initial stage, the emphasis is placed on pronunciation. Harmer notes that "the first requirement for those who speak their native language during a conversation is pronunciation." At the beginning of the learning process , the teacher should focus mainly on the pronunciation of the teacher . When grammar and vocabulary are considered the main, and the speaker's pronunciation is incorrect, it's all pointless. For if a speaker pronounces words correctly , they may also understand the purpose of the speaker with grammatical errors . In the middle stage of learning English , the main focus should be on the size of more texts and ways to help you think about reading , to improve speech activities , and to be entrepreneurial . Training in teaching should give adequate attention to the development of speech skills and the development of social flexibility . In addition, the success of each lesson in education depends in many ways on the proper organization of training. The lesson should be based on the creative cooperation of the teacher and the student. Only then will the students be able to think independently , freely , and their will be nurtured .

8 important reasons to learn foreign languages

1. Encourages good thinking. Learning foreign languages encourages a person to think openly and is the most reliable way to be absorbed in an absolutely new culture and worldview, to become an open-minded, understanding, tolerant person, and it is absolutely invaluable. Studies have also shown that knowledge of several languages involves good thinking, solving problems, and creativity. It also helps people to cope with unfamiliar situations.
2. Helps improve memory. Bilingual children are known to do better in their minds than children who speak one language, better study and so on. Many language learners will be better off recording and remembering the sequence.
3. Allows you to make many friends. People studying foreign languages will be able to make friends. New and interesting people can be found. Language helps this person express feelings, desires and connects with other people around him and forms meaningful relationships.
4. Increases the scope of operation. Today, people who speak foreign languages are considered lucky people. Because it is very important for everyone to know foreign languages. The world is becoming more and more global, and knowing two languages is not just an interest, but a time-consuming process. Studying a foreign language provides a wide range of opportunities to get a job. It is no secret that learning a foreign language can improve the prospects for employment.
5. Knowledge of new values and cultures. It allows people learning a certain language to learn the value and culture of that same country. For example, when a person learns a foreign language, he learns its culture, values, and traditions, along with the language of that country.

This will help us know more countries. In a word, learning a language means "hitting two rabbits with one arrow." On the one hand, we learn the language, and on the other hand, we get acquainted with the countries. 6. Allows us to improve our mental capacity. The size of our brains increases as we study new words and every new one. This means that knowing many languages is also essential to our own health. According to scientific research by scientists, people who have studied the language deeply for 3 months show an increase in the volume of gray matter. And this volume increases depending on how much effort was made. Another important thing in language learning is age. Because young people have a stronger ability to remember than adults. That is why they learn easier than adults. In my opinion, learning foreign languages is a benefit that you started learning from a young age.

7. Increases academic achievements Language learning supports academic achievement. This applies to English-speaking students studying a foreign language, as well as English learners in a bilingual and immersion program.

8. Travel becomes cheaper and easier, of course, many people like to travel. Knowing a language when you travel to a foreign country will benefit you a lot. When you simply go to eat, you can explain the food you want. You can also ask local people for a way and do it without difficulties. If you had taken a go with you, you would have been very expensive. In conclusion, knowledge of the language is the key to new opportunities for everyone. The more languages you know, the more doors open for you. Knowing the same language means understanding the world. The advantages of learning Cher's language are the ability to adapt you so that your life can be successful in almost all aspects. The tool that serves as a bridge between these nations will win the key to success and new worlds by those who line up without fear of it.
