

Ways To Improve the Teaching of Foreign Languages in Technical Universities

Yusup Kushakov Khaytbaevich

Tashkent State Transport University Senior Lecturer English

Annotation; This article discusses the role of teaching a foreign language in modern education and important aspects of learning a foreign language.

Key words: Foreign language, education, system, democracy, legal, independent.

After gaining independence, our country is on the path of building a democratic legal state and civil society. Many measures are being developed to stay firmly on this path. One of the important conditions for the development of our country is the improvement of the education system and the comprehensive development of the individual. There is no doubt that every change in the field of education will have a positive impact on the development of our society. Increasing the intellectual potential of the country is an important factor in the training of mature, competitive personnel that meet the requirements of state educational standards. The desire for independent acquisition of knowledge in any field is the most distinctive feature of the student's activity in an educational institution, the basis for independent study and knowledge acquisition.

Self-study and control in the education system is one of the main factors of self-study. To acquire independent knowledge, first of all, it is necessary to form in students the need to work independently, work freely, creatively and, most importantly, think independently. In the educational process, there is a growing interest in the use of interactive methods and innovative technologies in the educational process, one of the reasons for which is that so far traditional students are taught only to acquire ready-made knowledge, and modern ones - in technology. , teaches them to independently search for and analyze the knowledge gained and draw their own conclusions. The educator creates conditions for the development, formation, acquisition and education of the personality in this process and at the same time performs the function of management, direction.

The student becomes a key figure in the learning process. Therefore, the role and place of modern teaching methods - interactive methods and innovative technologies in the training of qualified specialists in higher education is enormous. Innovative technologies are a pedagogical process, as well as innovations and changes in the activities of teachers and students, the implementation of which is based on the full use of interactive methods. Interactive methods are called collective thinking, that is, methods of pedagogical influence, which are an integral part of the content of education.

Today, foreign language proficiency is becoming an integral part of vocational education. Due to the high level of cooperation with foreign partners in various fields, the demand for learning languages is high. In modern society, foreign languages are becoming an important part of professional education. People acquire such knowledge first at schools, colleges, gymnasiums, and then at institutes, at advanced training courses or by familiarizing themselves with basic information sets that help them learn a foreign language on their own. Today there are many collections of educational materials for people with different levels of language proficiency. Success in achieving this goal depends on the practical methods and skills of educators.

The ability to use information technology and modern teaching methods helps to quickly learn new material. By combining different methods, the teacher will be able to address specific curricula. In this regard, teachers and students should get acquainted with modern methods of teaching foreign languages.

As a result, they develop the skills to choose the most effective ways to achieve their goals. Using a variety of teaching and learning methods can be effective. Learning takes place in small steps and builds on the student's existing system of knowledge. There are many different styles of language teaching. When it comes to teaching English, the ability and level of the student, depending on their age, gradually gives good results. Students are divided into groups according to primary education, secondary education and advanced education. For each stage, the teacher develops a special program.

References

1. Kurganovich E.A., Anvarovich E.S., Abdullaevich Yu.G., Khasanovich U.Kh., Akhtamkulovich K.Kh., Abdullaevna Yu.M. (2020). Distribution of the training load among promising young gymnasts by periods of the annual cycle. Journal of Critical Reviews, 7(13), 1005–1007.
2. Abidov, Sh. W. (2020). Evaluate the technical and tactical movements of young players in competitions and determine their effectiveness. Fan-sportga, 17-19.
3. Beknazarov, Sh. V. (2021). Examine the attacking actions of the players in the team. Academic research in the field of pedagogical sciences, 2.
4. Shaimardanov, D. B. B. (2021). The dynamics of the influence of the volume of loads, typical for traditional and optimized technical training of young football players, on specific motor qualities. Academic research in the field of pedagogical sciences, 2.