We know that almost all developed countries are among the most developed in the legal field. This is due to the high level of legal literacy in these countries. Everyone has a certain opinion and understanding of their rights and freedoms. does not face any particular problems in society. Self-righteousness

A person who knows will be able to find a legal solution to difficulties and problems, and will also have the ability to find solutions to them. Therefore, the role of law in society is great. This area is also important for the development of society.

At the moment, if we bring to the countries where many areas of law have evolved; the United States, Germany, France, Great Britain, Russia, Japan and Korea. In particular, certain reforms are being carried out in Uzbekistan for the development of law in the society.

For Miso, mass legal events are being organized today, gatherings the main reason for this is to increase the legal literacy of the population and this works also show their usefulness. At the same time, students are provided with a high level of legal textbooks and are being taught in the schools.

In addition, higher educational institutions such as leading higher education institutions of foreign countries have been established in order to train qualified personnel in the field of law. An example of this is the University of world economy and diplomacy, Tashkent State University of law. From these higher education institutions every year mature qualified personnel who adequately protect the sphere of law in the society come out, and these personnel make their worthy contribution to the development of the law.

In Uzbekistan, the Constitution of the Republic of Uzbekistan is created, which is the basis for the development of law. The twelfth Call of the Republic of Uzbekistan was adopted on December 8, 1992 at the eleventh session of the Supreme Council of the Republic of Uzbekistan. This legal law protects the rights of citizens of the Republic of Uzbekistan.

Law and order are important to society because they serve as a code of conduct for citizens. The laws are also designed to provide appropriate guidelines and procedures for the conduct of all citizens and to ensure equality in the three branches of government. This will keep the community running smoothly. Without law, there will be chaos. And everyone will survive for themselves. Often this is not the ideal lifestyle.

The law is important because it serves as a guide to what is accepted in society. In this case, there would be conflicts between social groups and communities. It is important that we follow them. The law makes it easier to accept changes in society. Society is about web communication and social change, no doubt social change. where changes and processes in the system of social relations are understood in terms of social interactions and social organizations. Also, the term social change is used to refer to social institutions, social organizations, and processes that again indicate the desired changes in a social organization.

It includes changes in the structure and functions of society. A closer analysis of the role of law in relation to social change leads us to distinguish between the direct and indirect sides of the role.

However, there are some challenges in our society in the legal field. We can take this as an example, the sphere of corruption. Some officials, specialists of the legal sphere are in some situation leading to corruption law violations. In addition, the low level of legal literacy in the lower tier of society also causes some problems, namely injustice, inequalities. If such an existing problem is not eliminated, it can in itself cause a great mess.

There are also numerous solutions to the above issues in the legal sphere. First, in a situation where corruption is observed, strict punishments must be applied. It is also necessary to demonstrate to the people how much the law is being fulfilled. Documents of persons caught in a corrupt situation should be seen on a legal basis and hoped for the damage it has caused to society. Secondly, in the event that there are shortcomings in some system of legal literacy in the society, it should be based on the high level of the legal system based on European standards, for miso 1, it should be noted what cases of violation of the law are due to insufficient legal literacy, that is, in the case of miso 1, it should, a certain amount of material action can be taken. Amir Temur, the Great Master of vanity, does not say that " power is in Justice

In conclusion, the role of law in our society cannot be overemphasized. Therefore, legal ideas and actions should be widely promoted to society. The exchange of experience in this sphere with the leading state in this sphere will further enhance the prestige of the law sphere. Iadi. Ba zi will be the basis for further reduction of such muoamos if the problems in a legal society are eliminated in a timely manner. If the law is ustivor, not only the state but also the society itself will rise. To do this, both searches and actions are required, and it will not be profitable to do so. Mass work will also have to be carried out in order for the law to spread widely both in society. This also requires the consideration of a certain concept and proposal, like a legal system. Society will also serve as an impetus to the development of bilateral law, if the legal sphere requires perfection. The high level of importance of law in the state is the reason for the rise of society.
