

"Getting Rid of Junk"

Tursunniyozov Bakhtiyor Zoirovich,

A lecturer in public health technology named after Khatirchi Abu Ali ibn Sino in Nairobi
+998944549611 baxtiyorkarimov90@gmail.com

Annotation: This article consists of a collection of ideas and opinions aimed at making people feel good, focused on finding ways to find anyone's heart when necessary.

On behavioral science theories to better understand the influence of human factors in cybersecurity.

Keywords: Love ,Humans, Feeling

Everyone has such a feeling that it looks very beautiful when it is turned on. Therefore, the response to events of what is happening in all external and internal environments surrounding a person will certainly take place. Reading such sentences to your unnecessary father mother, unnecessary sister, unnecessary sister, and unnecessary child will certainly soften your heart, otherwise you would have been in a state of shock. At a time when such questions have occupied my mind, I can say to you, "Happy is it to live in a world where you need someone a little. We will see such people who have everything that is right for them, but you can certainly notice it depending on the structure of its face, which has moved away from something less.

But whatever you say is dear to man, I would say to you, "Love." An unscrupulous person is not good at all, nor is he satisfied with his walking. Lovingly, a person will continue to bloom and live. So I would say, 'Do not stop giving and loving.' Although the truth is so bitter, we are afraid to admit, why do you say that it is our responsibility to find a solution by correctly interpreting all the mistakes that may arise thereafter, not only to draw the right conclusions from all the events that will happen to us. Therefore, during the course of your relationship with people, you need to show that you are a real person in all respects, not just showing your good or just your bad for them, so that you would have contributed to the emergence of goodness in their hearts, even if it were a little for you.

A relative who does not know love is better than a bed that Love knows.

That's why I realized as I grew older that there was a lot of meaning underneath. The resulting embryo was allowed to develop in nutrients and then inserted into her womb, where it implanted. In fact, sometimes you don't even realize that there is a difference between you and a stranger between earth and heaven.

A person receives, learns, and returns to his loved ones the love he receives from his parents. Those who are older without affection are less loving. More specifically, he will be an innocent person. When such people are given more attention and more love from their loved ones, they will change for the better.

There is no market for mehrni. Love is a great blessing, like a seed that is sown here. The more we share it with humans, the more it will return to us. Even if he does not love the greens planted, he dries up.

And kindness is a bad illusion. Why do people take their father or mother to a nursing home? Isn't it because of disrespect that a man who was forced to go to that nursing home carelessly looked after his brothers, brothers, and sons and daughters behind him?

Love is one of man's highest emotions. In Oriental philosophy, such qualities as compassion, kindness, and humanity have always been magnified and praised. Humanity is a virtue that prohibits a person from showing compassion to other people, the offspring, doing good, and being in humanitarian relationships. Love and kindness are indispensable signs of humanity. In each of these, the wisdom of the people and national values are reflected in such concepts as love, loyalty, and consequences. Kindness, on the other hand, also means generosity and mercy, compassion for others, openness of hand and tolerance. And the Prophet (Mohammed – peace and blessings be upon him) said, "O Uqba! Whoever has severed the mercy of Silai with you, you will bind him, and whoever deprives you of something, you will give him the same, and whoever has wronged you will be forgiven." Nebuchadnezzar believes that the universe is powerful than man, and there is no more important potential than that, and it is impossible to be. Thus, in addition to self-esteem, he emphasizes that other people should be viewed as the pillars of the universe and should show them love and honor. Observing life, we realize that if good treatment and sincerity bring joy to the hearts, fear and manmanship and arrogance will afflict people. Hearts full of joy want goodness and goodness. Sharing joy in a neighbor also contributes to the forgiveness of sins. A person who treats a person with sweetness and courtesy makes not only himself but also the heart of his interlocutor alight. Greetings when they see it, saying "labbay" when they call, and wishing them security when they say goodbye are among the good qualities of our people. After all, increased love and family kindness among humans primarily depends on kindness in communicating with people. When we evaluate the person next to us, first of all, we focus on his treatment and his relationship with people. Treatment, on the other hand, begins with "Hello, hello." Beautiful behavior and good treatment are the adornment of humanity. As our people work hard day and night, they always think that I can make weddings and make donations to people. Even when praying for each other's rights, it became customary to say, "Let what you find order weddings." Being an open hand to them was inherited from their ancestors. Our people know that his prosperity will bring blessings in the world as well, and in the hereafter he will bring great rewards. So, my dear ones, I could not say repeatedly and repeatedly that we should all try to be loving and loving. As we live in a world where we have discovered such great insomnia, if we do not share our love with one another for their pure dreams, and it is so difficult for our father and mother to take a little time to entertain them, isn't it really one of the main reasons for their birth, dear ones. I would ask you not to give up on your loved ones.

References:

1. Korpi, Jonna. "Getting Rid of Junk Mail (2018-11-29)." (2018).
2. Li, Shichao. "Junk-buyers as the linkage between waste sources and redemption depots in urban China: the case of Wuhan." Resources, Conservation and Recycling 36.4 (2002): 319-335.
3. Charte, Francisco. "A comprehensive and didactic review on multilabel learning software tools." IEEE Access 8 (2020): 50330-50354.